Shoplifting charge filed

By BRENT MACEY

Waveland police Friday arrested a 29-year-old Lakeshore woman on a felony shoplifting charge preferred by TG&Y in that city.

Patricia A. Theriot of P.O. Box 351, Lakeshore, was arrested and charged with shoplifting Friday morning at TG&Y family center in Our Shopping Center.

She was later released on $500 bond. Chuck James, arresting officer, said shoplifting goods valued at more than $25 is a felony. Conviction carries a penalty of no less than one year and no more than five years in the state penitentiary, a fine of not more than $1,000, or both.

Steve Jeffcoat, manager of TG&Y, told police Frank Cyck, assistant manager, witnessed Theriot allegedly swapping price tags from a toy microwave oven to a small stereo set priced at $15 more.

Theriot was stopped after checking out merchandise at the front of the store, James said.

He said other articles allegedly were found in the woman's purse.

A small black and white TV valued at $88 which apparently went unnoticed by the checkout clerk was discovered in the bottom of a TG&Y basket, the store manager told police.

RECOVERED JEWELRY—Delbert Seay, left, Hancock sheriff's investigator, and Rose Raboteau, secretary, inventory jewelry recovered in Harrison County. The jewelry, according to Seay, was recovered from Kenneth Demoran who is charged with 26 burglaries in Hancock and Harrison Counties. Demoran is in Harrison County Jail under a $10,000 bond. The burglaries are being investigated by Hancock sheriff's office, Harrison County sheriff's office, Mississippi Highway Patrol investigators, Waveland, Pass Christian, Long Beach and Gulfport police. NSTL test firing date change to have no effect on Columbia launch

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

An official of the National Space Technology Laboratories this week denied reports of any recent delays in a Space Shuttle engine testing program in Hancock County.

The first space shuttle launching is scheduled at Cape Canaveral, Fla. on March 14 carrying the delta-winged spacecraft Columbia into Earth orbit.

A report in the November issue of NSTL's house organ Lagniappe and a recent article in New Orleans' based newspaper The Times Playune—States Item say a test firing of the Space Shuttle's main propulsion system is scheduled for Monday.

However, National Aeronautics and Space Administration NSTL Public Affairs Officer Mack Herring said this week, "We don't have any specific date for another test, but the shuttle program has not been delayed."

Herring explained the Dec. 22 testing date was set because, "That would have been the normal three-week turnaround time to get ready for another test."

The latest three-engine firing was Dec. 4.

"Bob Bush, resident manager for the space shuttle program, gave that information to reporters right after a previous test," he added.

The Dec. 4 test was termed by Herring as "successful." The engines were operated under a 102 percent power level.

The public affairs officer noted another test firing of the shuttle engines is not necessary as far as the program to launch the first shuttle, Columbia, in March is concerned.

"We've got time to do another test, so we might as well," he stated.

Herring justified the additional test by explaining, "We will use these engines for 55 missions. We have to build a tough engine and test them extensively because we're looking at our country's first workhorse 'in space.'"

The public affairs officer said as an extra precaution two of the shuttle's three main propulsion engines are capable of lifting the craft into space.

The first shuttle mission will be piloted by two astronauts who will circle the Earth 37 times and land 54 hours after launch on a desert runway at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif.

But if problems are experienced in the first few minutes of the launch, Herring said a 15,000-foot runway at the Cape will allow a safe shuttle landing.

Herring said the Florida runway will also be used as a landing site for several shuttle trips with the west coast strip primarily for military missions.

When asked if the previously announced Dec. 22 test had been rescheduled for a day in January, Herring replied, "We don't have a specific date and the program has not been delayed."

"We are now studying data from the Dec. 4 test to see what tests we're going to perform next with the shuttle engines," he reported.

"After we analyze that data and make plans, we will announce the date for the next test firing," Herring added.

Area employment honeymoon over

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

Hancock County's 1980 honeymoon with relatively high employment rates is apparently over.

Mississippi State Employment Service figures released Thursday show the county with a November unemployment rate of seven percent.

The local figure is close to a state and national unemployment rate for the same period of 7.1 percent.

The local seven percent rate is the highest unemployment level recorded this year and is the first time the local jobless figure has neared national and state rates.

A general national economic slump has apparently registered its impact locally.

Ian Shearer, labor market analyst for the employment service office in Gulfport, said Thursday, "Let's face it, we're in a general decline."

"There's been a decline in wholesale and retail trade," Shearer noted.

The analyst said a 'rippling' of national economic problems have just reached our area.

"This is just now getting to us, but we're not in bad shape either," he stated.

"In Hancock County there's no real focal point. There's a general decline in employment. Some of this consists of seasonal agricultural jobs," Shearer explained.

The analyst reported 520 people are unemployed out of the county's 7,400-person civilian labor force.

In October some 470 persons were unemployed out of a total civilian labor force of 7,420. This represented a 6.3 percent jobless rate.

Monthly 1980 unemployment percentage figures show:

- January and February at 6.5;
- March at 5.7;
- April at 5.6;
- May at 5.4;
- June at 6.2;
- July at 5.8;
- August at 5.4;
- September at 5.6;
- October at 6.3;

The employment service's moving 12-month moving average shows a local civilian labor force of 7,170 with some 430 persons unemployed at six percent jobless rate.

Mississippi's unemployment rate of 7.1 percent was an increase of four-tenths of a percentage point compared to October's 6.7 percent jobless rate, employment commission Executive Director O.H. Simmons said this week.

Waveland aldermen study Middletown house razings

By BRENT MACEY

The Waveland Board of Aldermen Wednesday postponed action on recommendations from the Housing and Urban Development Department in Jackson to demolish six homes in the Middletown area.

Alderman Louie Smolensky who represents the Middletown area, said a woman periodically lives in one of the houses slated to be demolished.

The HUD proposal was taken under advisement until the aldermen; Lewis Eaton, Engineers, the city's engineers; and HUD representatives can meet on the matter.

Mayor John Longo said a number of solutions are possible, including demolition and relocation.

The houses previously failed to meet HUD housing code requirements, and were considered health hazards.

The board also moved not to demolish

a house in the area owned by Eugene Allen of Gulfport.

Allen had appeared at a public hearing Dec. 2 and complained his house did not warrant destruction.

The board took the matter under advisement at that time.

Harold Zimmerman, HUD rehabilitation officer working in Waveland, said eight houses in the area had been slated to be demolished.

Of the eight houses, two have been demolished by the owners, two still face future negotiations, and four have had no complaints voiced by the owners concerning demolition.

The board also moved during the Wednesday meeting to re-advertise bids for rehabilitation of two homes in the Middletown area.

Zimmerman said the bids received on two of the five houses proposed for renovation did not meet HUD guidelines.

He stated the bids must fall within 15 percent of an estimated price for renovation.

"One bid was too high and another was too low," Zimmerman said.

The houses to be re-advertised include the homes of Edna Summers and Willie Harrington Jr.

In other business, the board awarded James Lagasse the outstanding citizen of Waveland award for work in civic, church and community affairs.

Lagasse has been involved in the Jerry Lewis Muscular Dystrophy program a number of years and spends 48 hours in the Waveland office accepting telephone donations during the campaign each year. He is currently the regional director of the program.

Lagasse in return awarded the board a plaque from the Muscular Dystrophy Program engraved with a picture of Jerry Lewis and "a love of love" in donating office space for the program.

County Agent's Notes

by John Smith

KEEP CHRISTMAS TREES MOIST

WHEN BROUGHT INDOORS

If you want to enjoy your Christmas tree longer during the holiday season, keep the base of the trunk immersed in water. The water will prevent the needles from drying and the boughs of the tree from drooping. The tree will remain fresh all through the holiday season.

Christmas trees respond quickly to moisture given them if the tree is properly prepared before it is put in the water holding stand. This means sawing off at least an inch of the butt of the trunk on a slight angle before putting the tree in the stand. The cut removes possible clogged resins that could prevent the tree from absorbing the water.

Then keep the stand filled with water by adding to it daily. A tree may absorb from a pint to a gallon of water daily, depending upon its size and condition. The water helps keep the tree needles pliable and the boughs in their natural shape. The moisture also helps to maintain the natural Christmas tree aroma throughout the entire holiday season, thereby adding more pleasure to the Christmas season.

If you want the best possible tree and have selected the tree of your choice, bring it home and keep it outdoors until you are ready to bring it in for decorating. Keep it in a pail of water. Warm rooms without sufficient moisture are tough on natural, fresh trees and cause them to dry out unnecessarily.

Extended Use Ideas: A Christmas tree's usefulness isn't over at the end of the holiday season, as it can be put to many uses around the home. For example, the boughs can be chopped off and used as a mulch around flower beds. They can also be set upright in the yard and bird food attached to them to serve as a bird feeder. A green tree often adds a cherry spot to a bleak garden in the heart of winter. If you have a fireplace, there's no better wood than that from a Christmas tree. The pine needles add a pleasant aroma to the house and the trunk furnishes the home with additional firewood.

Instead of bonfires, more and more cities are using commercial chippers to dispose of their Christmas trees. The chips are useful for walks and other purposes around the home, particularly as decorative mulches around flower beds.

National Christmas trees offer so much pleasure to any Christmas celebration. That is why so many American families choose the real tree in their homes for a truly traditional Christmas.

FERTILIZER

Dr. Kelson Anderson of our agronomy staff tells us that fertilizer supplies for agriculture will be adequate next year. That's the good news. The bad news is those fertilizer prices are expected to increase again with 1981 prices up 15 to 20 percent over this year.

Anderson says nitrogen prices probably will increase the most, with phosphate and potash price increases matching the inflation rate.

SOUTHERN SEED

Dr. Charles Baskin of the Agronomy Department tells us, however, that soybean seed is a different story. We know that yields are down all across the Southeast. The supply of early season beans appears short and quality may not be what we usually expect.

Yields from group V beans were lower than for later maturing varieties, and supplies of these varieties are expected to be short.

Supplies of mid and late season group VI and VII beans will be below normal, but that supply is much improved over group V supplies.

Baskin says germination and seed size and shape for group VI and VII Beans are about normal.

"This will take much pressure off the soybean seed supply," he reports.

"In 1981, our producers may have to plant more acres of certain varieties than normal, but there should be enough seed to plant the desired acreage," Baskin adds.

NSTL test firing date change to have no effect on Columbia launch

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

An official of the National Space Technology Laboratories this week denied reports of any recent delays in a Space Shuttle engine testing program in Hancock County.

The first space shuttle launching is scheduled at Cape Canaveral, Fla. on March 14 carrying the delta-winged spacecraft Columbia into Earth orbit.

A report in the November issue of NSTL's house organ Lagniappe and a recent article in New Orleans' based newspaper The Times Picayune—States Item—say a test firing of the Space Shuttle's main propulsion system is scheduled for Monday.

However, National Aeronautics and Space Administration NSTL Public Affairs Officer Mack Herring said this week, "We don't have any specific date for another test, but the shuttle program has not been delayed."

CRUELTY TO ANIMALS—Mrs. A. H. (Etta) Mitchell of 202 Sears Ave., Waveland, shows fluffy black cat she found snared in this steel animal trap which had been set in her neighborhood. Injuries suffered in the trap caused the cat to lose the toes of its front left paw. Similar traps have also been found set in the area, Mrs. Mitchell reported. Waveland aldermen study Middletown house razings

By BRENT MACEY

The Waveland Board of Aldermen Wednesday postponed action on recommendations from the Housing and Urban Development Department in Jackson to demolish six homes in the Middletown area.

Alderman Louis Smolensky who represents the Middletown area, said a woman periodically lives in one of the houses slated to be demolished.

The HUD proposal was taken under advisement until the aldermen; Lewis Eakin Engineers, the city's engineers; and HUD representatives can meet on the matter.

Mayor John Longo said a number of solutions are possible, including demolition and relocation.

The houses previously failed to meet HUD housing code requirements, and were considered health hazards.

The board also moved not to demolish

a house in the area owned by Eugene Allen of Gulfport.

Allen had appeared at a public hearing Dec. 2 and complained his house did not warrant destruction.

The board took the matter under advisement at that time.

Harold Zimmerman, HUD rehabilitation officer working in Waveland, said eight houses in the area had been slated to be demolished.

Of the eight houses, two have been demolished by the owners, two still face future negotiations, and four have had no complaints voiced by the owners concerning demolition.

The board also moved during the Wednesday meeting to re-advertise bids for rehabilitation of two homes in the Middletown area.

Zimmerman said the bids received on two of the five houses proposed for renovation did not meet HUD guidelines.

He stated the bids must fall within 15 percent of an estimated price for renovation.

"One bid was too high and another was too low," Zimmerman said.

The houses to be re-advertised include the homes of Edna Summers and Willie Harrington Jr.

In other business, the board awarded James Lagasse the outstanding citizen of Waveland award for work in civic, church and community affairs.

Lagasse has been involved in the Jerry Lewis Muscular Dystrophy program a number of years and spends 48 hours in the Waveland office accepting telephone donations during the campaign each year. He is currently the regional director of the program.

Lagasse in return, awarded the board a plaque from the Muscular Dystrophy Program adorned with a signature of Jerry Lewis for "a labor of love" in donating office space for the program.

THEN & NOW!

THEN: Holly Hobbie was a gifted young artist, married and with one child (now there are three) whose friends and family were blessed on birthdays and holidays by receiving greetings from her in the form of watercolors and drawings of delightful charm. One friend suggested she pack off a portfolio to a greeting card company just for fun. American Greetings Corp., which rarely accepts unsolicited artwork, decided to buy her designs and see what would happen. The first Holly Hobbie cards were marketed on a limited experimental basis. They caught on.

NOW: Holly Hobbie still favors friends, and family with her drawings, and yet her art has made her name a household word around the world. One of Holly's most familiar designs, the one that has become virtually an emblem of her work, is the Blue Girl, the standing figure of a serene, young girl in profile whose face is concealed by a fancifully large calico bonnet. Her blue bonnet and highlaced shoes, her patchwork apron and the bouquet of wild flowers in her hands, are evocative of a time whose simplicity and repose seem rare today.

The Holly Hobbie look is especially appropriate for the holiday season.

Local industrial leaders discourage port prospect

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission officials have apparently discouraged a Jackson County barge repair and scrap operation from locating at Port Bienville Industrial Park.

Representatives of American Barge Service, Inc., a newly-formed Jackson County firm, told the commission last week they are interested in purchasing a 47-acre site (Lot 47) at Port Bienville presently owned by International Demolition and Salvage Co., Inc., a Tennessee based corporation.

International, a scrap metal firm, has expressed interest in discontinuing its Hancock County operation.

However, the commission recently voted to file suit against International to repossess its land because the company had not met requirements of the park's protective covenants regarding site improvement and employment density.

At a Dec. 11 commission meeting, American's attorney Wynn Clark informed the board of its intentions to buy the property and requested immunity from lawsuits regarding the land, but the county group requested a formal statement of intent from the company.

Attorneys Wynn and John Clark of Pascagoula, both representing ABS, appeared at a special commission meeting Thursday night.

Wynn and Clark requested the board endorse a resolution not to file suit against American if it purchased the port property, but the commission again failed to take action.

"I'm only concerned about us getting sued for the alleged misdeeds. I'm asking the commission not to sue us and take away the land," Clark requested.

The attorney presented commission members with a statement of American's intentions regarding the Port Bienville tract.

The statement reports American proposed hiring 12 to 24 men in its barge repair service after 24 months of operation, three men in a barge steam cleaning crew, a maximum of 10 men after a two-year period for a scrap operation, three men for a shell and aggregate business which would require a rail spur to be furnished by the commission.

Site improvements American proposed to make include removal of 1.25 million feet of soil near a turning basin costing $150,000; removal of a present bulkhead and its replacement at $50,000; dredging a barge slip at $20,000; construction of a barge draw at $250,000.

The improvements were to take 18 months to complete.

Wynn noted, "The estimated cost is a little low because American plans to do the work itself."

Commissioner Dave McDonald asked, "Who owns this company? Is Mr. Flint a major stockholder?"

Wynn explained ABS is owned by three individuals, J.W. Flint of Gautier, John McAllister of Ocean Springs and George Mitchell of Pascagoula.

Collectively, the three own ABS; Coastal Tri-City Iron and Metal; Coastal Marine Salvage; Can Do, Inc.; Gulf Coast Fence Co.; Singing River Tire Co.; Singing River Parts; Acme Mechanical Contractors, Inc.; Wood Pile, Inc.; and Gulf Coast Concrete Co., Inc.

The combined net worth of all the enterprises is $2,051,862.

Wynn reported, "I can't advise my client to purchase this property with them knowing there's some litigation involved."

Commission Director W. Wilson Wehre said, "I thought we tried last week to assure you people about our proposed action."

"We're trying to stress that International purchased the land under servitude. We could stress that servitude for a new client. Servitude is the very heart of the matter and International is in default with that servitude," Wehre explained.

Wynn stated, "I appreciate your comments and I appreciate the commission's position."

"...we're asking you not to sue us," he said.

Commissioner Ronnie Artigues noted, "We can't sue you."

Wynn replied, "We would be lax if we did not ask the commission for its sentiment in this matter."

Artigues asked Wynn, "Could we ask you to rewrite the covenants for your company?"

Wynn replied, "Certainly we intend to live by the covenants, but if we can't we'd like to come back and discuss them. There have been concessions made in the past."

"We're assuming the covenants are valid," he added.

However, McDonald expressed concern that the land sale might be a means of avoiding covenant requirements.

"That's one of the oldest things in real estate when you're dealing with covenants and you require a certain amount of performance," McDonald cited.

"A sells to B, B sells to C and so on. You are escaping performances required in the time clock of the covenants," he explained.

However, McDonald also noted, "Our biggest concern is this. We're not kept up about a piece of prime property being used for this type of business. It takes a large amount of ground and doesn't hire many people."

"We are looking at a piece of land that has been 47 acres of prime waterfront property used as a scrap operation," he said.

"All of us are interested in one thing. That the land owned by the public is utilized to its maximum benefit for the county," he explained.

McDonald suggested American's proposal might be more acceptable if reduced to a 30-acre tract with the commission purchasing the remaining 17 acres for development and so it doesn't impede our turning basin."

Wynn reported, "We're in negotiation for purchase of all of the property and we're not keen about splitting that property up."

Artigues stated, "I feel your company will use this land as a stockpile and will not employ very many people."

"But I think your sale will go through and it will not make any difference what we do," he said.

"I feel the commission would not like to have American buy the land. If you want to buy the land, buy the land, but we don't have enough waterfront property," Artigues said.

Commissioner Victor Frankiewicz noted, "It's hard to embrace the sale of 47 acres with a projected employment level of only 27 people. I wouldn't want to endorse it."

Wehre reported if American bought the property the commission would have to provide a rail spur to the firm's site.

The director explained an 'engineered curve' would be needed to extend a rail spur from the existing tracks to Lot 47.

Wehre also cited, "We're at an impasse on small sites and small waterfront sites are sorely needed."

Wynn reiterated, "I don't think ABS would be interested in anything less than 47 acres. Maybe I'm wasting your time and mine."

After the commission met in executive session for one hour and 10 minutes to discuss the Lot 47 situation with its attorneys, Wehre reported, "The conclusion of the commission is we're standing where we are. We haven't withdrawn notification of possible litigation."

"Hopefully we can resolve this and all possible avenues are being exploited," he added.

Water supply is low, yet we continue waste

The water tables along the Mississippi Gulf Coast are reportedly dropping an average of four feet a year according to James Head, director of the Gulf Regional Planning Commission.

In order to protect the Gulf Coast, a bill is to be placed before the legislature to form a Coastal Independent Streams District.

This is all very good, but it will take years to formulate such a district and we continue to waste water every minute of the day and night.

We have mentioned this before, but no one seems to listen.

There are numerous free flowing wells in Hancock County. We know, because some of them we see every day. We assume the same is true in the other Coast counties.

Why aren't these wells capped? Water is wasting. It is coming out of the ground and not being used. So what if it is only a few gallons some wells are producing, you add them all up and probably millions of gallons are wasted each year.

We just wonder how many wells are still flowing in the buffer zone in Hancock County.

The formation of a Coastal Independent Streams District is very good and a step in the right direction. This will add another source of surface water to our supplies.

If all these wild wells were capped, it may cut the drop of the water table each year and add life to that supply.

This too could be something our legislators may want to act upon in making it a law to cap free flowing wells not in use.

Bits 'n pieces

When we start thinking, 35 years is a very long time. It is a much longer time when a person holds one job for that period. We are talking about Ethel Favre, who recently celebrated 35 years of service as secretary of the cooperative extension service in Hancock County.

In other words she is the secretary for the county agent, extension service, and 4-H agent.

We do not feel any more words of praise could express her ability then those spoken by John Smith at the annual Supervisors luncheon.

Smith said, "Mrs. Favre is the best county agent secretary in the state of Mississippi and has been for 35 years."

We feel those were very complimentary words and want to extend our congratulations to Ethel and wish her many more years of service.

We note there are some increases with the revised census figures released this week.

Indications are though, the figures are still off somewhat, especially when we take into consideration the number of persons registered to vote.

On a realistic basis, it is hard to figure only 24,592 county residents with 12,441 houses counted.

We sure have a lot of houses not occupied, or something was miscounted somewhere along the line.

The Bottom Line

Candid Answers To Your Questions About Advertising and Business Topics.

By S. GALE DENLEY
Associate Professor of Journalism

We tried a new mail out in addition to our regular promotion last week and it really brought in the folks. Our sales were up and we had new customers in store. Why Should We Stay In The Newspaper?

Dear WSWITN: My first impulse is to tell you to try it and see. But this wouldn't be fair to anyone concerned—the newspaper, your regular customers, and especially to you.

It wouldn't be fair to the newspaper for it is now doing a quite adequate job of bringing in a steady flow of business for you.

It wouldn't be fair to your regular customers who are accustomed to looking in the paper for your ads not to find them. (As you know if you have ever watched people throw away the flyers and circulars in the mail now days, many of them don't make it into the home.)

It wouldn't be fair to you for you would be giving up a first class effort for something that would eventually prove to be less effective.

If you will be entirely honest you will find a large factor in the perceived response to your effort was because you were looking for new results.

There are new people in your store every week—this week you attributed them to the new type of promotion. In the past you haven't expected anything out of the ordinary, so you simply didn't see it.

Another factor is the prices you ran in the flyer. These are much lower than you have run in the recent past. So the reaction to the lower prices would have occurred anyway. The fact that they were also distributed in a new medium was coincidental.

This is not to say you shouldn't try new promotional devices. To not do so would be foolish. But to embrace each new device as the best by attributing all accumulated success to its use would also be foolish.

Day in and day out, there is no substitute for the established local news media as a vehicle for your advertising.

So use these new devices with the idea of supplementing long standing and proven advertising practices.

Don't give up a good thing, until you are sure you have found a better one. Chances are you could have achieved the same results by increasing your efforts in the established media. The next time you get anxious for a change, you might give it a try.

Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus!

Many years ago a little girl, who was wondering about the existence of Santa Claus, wrote this letter to the New York Sun:

Dear Editor:

I am 8 years old. Some of my friends say there is no Santa Claus; Papa says if you see it in the Sun, it is so. Please tell me the truth, is there a Santa Claus?

Dear Virginia:

Your little friends are wrong. They have been affected by the skepticism of a skeptical age. They do not believe except what they see. They think that nothing can be which is not comprehensible by their minds. All minds. Virginia, whether they be men's or children's are little. In this great universe of ours, man is a mere insect, an ant, in his intellect, as compared with the boundless world about him, as measured by the intelligence capable of grasping the whole of truth and knowledge.

Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus. He exists as certainly as love and generosity and devotion exist, and you know that they abound and give to your life its highest beauty and joy. Alas! How dreary would be the world if there were no Santa Claus! It would be as dreary as if there were no Virginias. There would be no childlike faith then, no poetry, no romance, to make tolerable this existence. We should have no enjoyment, except in sense and sight. The eternal light with which childhood fills the world would be extinguished.

Not believe in Santa Claus! You might as well not believe in Fairies! You might get your papa to hire men to watch in chimneys on Christmas evening to catch Santa Claus, but even if they did not see Santa Claus coming down, what would that prove? Nobody sees Santa Claus, but that is no sign that there is no Santa Claus. The most real things in the world are those that neither children nor men can see.

Did you ever see Fairies dancing on the lawn? Of course not, but that's no proof that they are not there. Nobody can conceive or imagine all the wonders there are unseen and unseeable in the world.

You may tear apart the baby's rattle and see what makes the noise inside, but there is a veil covering the unseen world which not the strongest man nor even the united strength of all the strongest men that ever lived, could tear apart. Only faith, fancy, poetry, love, romance can push aside that curtain and view and picture the supernal beauty and glory beyond.

Is it real? Ah, Virginia, in all this world there is nothing else so real and abiding.

No Santa Claus?

Thank God, he lives and he lives forever. A thousand years from now, Virginia, nay, ten times ten thousand years from now, he will continue to make glad the heart of childhood.

NEWS FROM THE GOVERNOR'S OFFICE

QUALITY EDUCATION
Governor William Winter said recently in Tupelo there is "a fundamental relationship between the quality of education we offer in this state and our ability to attract high-paying jobs to Mississippi. Education is the backbone of our economy."

Winter made the comments last week at a news conference following a tour of Lee County schools.

Winter taught a senior American Government class at Tupelo High School and taught reading and vocabulary lessons to first and second grade pupils at Sallis Elementary.

"I was in New York," Winter said, "for two days recently meeting with the heads of several major high-technology corporations. The fundamental concern they have about Mississippi is the quality of education in this state and our ability to provide vocational and technical training which will meet their needs. For this reason, it is essential that we take the initiative and enact a phased-in kindergarten program, a compulsory school attendance law with teeth, and work to establish more equitable school financing."

"By upgrading the quality of education in Mississippi," Winter continued, "we will be much better able to attract investment capital for job creation into Mississippi."

RUNNING IN PLACE?

By Edwin Feulner

Comic strip heroes Mike Motley and his friend, Earl, spent the better part of the summer, like most of us, thinking aloud about politics — and the choice that lay ahead of them on November 4.

Mike, a union man known as the "Hero of the Middle Class," won't tell us how he voted. Earl is not nearly as guarded. He voted like most other middle-class Americans — for Ronald Reagan.

Mike and Earl may be products of a cartoonist's imagination, but their political views are grounded solidly in fact. A lot of real people just like them went out and voted for Republicans this year — perhaps for the first time in their lives. For one reason or another, these folks really wanted a change. A new book by Robert C. Yeager may help explain why the middle class suddenly finds the status quo unacceptable.

Losing It: The Economic Fall of the Middle Class (McGraw-Hill, 1980) is packed with horror stories. Yeager, a veteran newsman, has combined interviews with "average Americans" with economic statistics and historical background to produce a frightening group portrait of the middle class in disarray and despair. In interview after interview, the reader can hear the refrain, "Whatever happened to the American Dream?"

What has happened, according to Yeager's book, is inflation and a low growth rate in the economy. These economic ills have trapped the middle class in a situation not unlike that of a hamster on an exercise wheel. The effect on people raised to believe in traditional American values of hard work, savings and ultimately, reward, has been devastating.

As Yeager puts it: "America is, after all, the original incentive economy, the land of the free and the home of the ambitious. The potential of upward mobility motivates the American middle class. . . . Increasingly, though, members of the middle class don't do much moving up; they just run harder."

He continues: "The old middle-class idea of getting ahead meant participating in real growth, personally and collectively. . . . Inflation has helped change that."

If the facts of our economic situation are disturbing, the interpretation put on these facts by the middle class is more so. Pollster Daniel Yankelovich reports that in the 1960s, three-fifths of all employed Americans believed "hard work always pays off"; now, only 43 percent share that view. Worse, Yankelovich tells us that "an overwhelming 84 percent of all Americans feel a certain social resentment: a belief that those who work hard and live by the rules end up with the short end of the stick."

If the middle class has lost faith in the American system, chances are good that the system cannot function as it ought to. Think about it: what does it mean for our system if the majority of working people believe that hard work no longer brings rewards? That there is no point in saving money? That they have no hope of ever owning their own homes?

Perhaps, though, by its startling change in voting behavior the middle class was signalling its willingness to give hope another shot. After all, it voted in overwhelming numbers for candidates who promised not more government-financed security, but a return to the old system of rewards and incentives. I hope these politicians paid close attention to the message the voters sent.

The newly elected officials need to get busy introducing policies reestablishing incentives, encouraging growth and productivity, and cutting taxes, regulation and government spending. There are a lot of changes to be made, before the people in the middle can stop believing that they're Losing It.

Used by permission; all rights reserved by DATE, St. Louis, Mo.
QUESTION — Depressant drugs vary with respect to their lethal overdose potential. Moderate depressant overdose closely resembles alcoholic inebriation. Which of the following is not a possible symptom of severe depressant poisoning?

- Slow pulse
- Coma
- Cold and clammy skin
- Shallow respiration

ANSWER — A weak and rapid pulse is one of the signs of possible depressant overdose. Death will follow if the reduced respiration and low blood pressure are not counteracted by proper medical treatment.

Correct answer — a.
QUESTION — What is the economic cost of alcoholism in the United States?

- $50 billion
- $ 5 billion
- $50 million
- $ 5 million

ANSWER — According to John R. DeLuca, director of the National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism, the economic cost of alcoholism in the U.S. is now estimated at nearly $50 billion a year, a rise of some $7 billion over previous estimates. The cost estimate was calculated from figures on lost productivity, health and medical care expenses, motor vehicle accidents, violent crime, fire fatalities and burns, and other traumatic accidents, DeLuca said.

Correct answer — a.

Pregnancy and alcohol abuse don't mix, says the March of Dimes. A pattern of mental and physical birth defects called Fetal Alcohol Syndrome can damage children of pregnant mothers who drink excessively. No one knows how much is too much.

SINCE World War II, the number of working mothers has increased tenfold. March of Dimes Birth Defects Foundation supports research to identify harmful prenatal effects on pregnancy which may be due to occupational hazards.

Federal Court System Is Clear Cut For Consumers

By Theodore I. Koskoff
President
Association of Trial Lawyers of America

Last month I discussed the various local and state courts that a consumer might have dealings with at one time or another during his/her lifespan.

Where the 50 state systems are complex as to size, population and the various and sometimes differing state statutes, the Federal judicial system is relatively simple. And since there may be a time in your life when you may have to go to a Federal court, I feel it is important for me to explain its system of justice.

There are some 90 U.S. District Courts throughout the country with at least one in each of the 50 states. Heavily populated states have more district courts as needed to handle the caseload. These district courts are Courts of General Jurisdiction.

They have the power to hear and pass judgment on both civil and criminal cases. That is, cases involving claimed violations of your personal civil rights, damages cases, and cases involving alleged violations of Federal criminal laws.

In civil cases, there are two restrictions on persons suing in the Federal district courts.

One, the plaintiff and the defendant must be residents of different states. And two, the amount of money involved in the civil lawsuit must be $10,000 or more.

However, there are some kinds of Federal civil lawsuits where these two guidelines do not apply. These cases belong exclusively in the district courts because the U.S. Constitution requires it or the Congress has so directed it. Among these are lawsuits involving bankruptcy, patents, trademarks, copyrights, and certain maritime matters.

Also within the Federal court system are several courts that handle only certain kinds of cases. These include, the U.S. Court of Claims which handles lawsuits against the U.S. Government, the U.S. Customs Court which handles cases arising under the tariff laws; and the U.S. Tax Court which handles cases arising under the Internal Revenue Code.

Like some state court systems, there are 11 U.S. Courts of Appeals that are concerned only with appeals or pleas for reversal of decisions by lower courts. Along with these 11 appeal courts are two special appeal courts in Washington, D.C. — the U.S. Court of Customs and Patent Appeals and the U.S. Court of Military Appeals.

And sitting majestically atop this whole structure of Federal courts is the U.S. Supreme Court.

A slick plan for a rainy day.

Some people manage to go through life without ever having a rainy day. But most people run into a storm now and then. So it pays to plan for a storm and then hope it never happens. The Payroll Savings Plan is one sure, safe, easy way to force yourself to start saving. And savings are a must to keep any financial plan from going on the skids. The little you set aside each payday for U.S. Savings Bonds will grow. And help to keep you covered come rain or come shine. And if you're lucky enough to miss the rain, it might help you plant a few shade trees.

Take stock in America.

The March of Dimes leads the fight against birth defects, the nation's most serious child health problem. A quarter of a million babies are born in the U.S. each year with birth defects.

CREATIVE IDEAS IN WOOD

Jim Lombard, of Hart, Michigan, built the drawing board pictured here for his son after finding that commercially made boards were too expensive. He made the height adjustable, tilting drawing board for only $26.

The way the board adjusts to any height and tilts to any angle is ingenious. The height adjustment is made by moving the legs, connected with carriage bolts and wing nuts in the holes evenly spaced along the leg runners and leg anchors. The board tilts to any angle by simply applying pressure near the edges of the board.

The drawing board was such a hit with his son's classmates that their school asked Lombard to make 20 or 30 more.

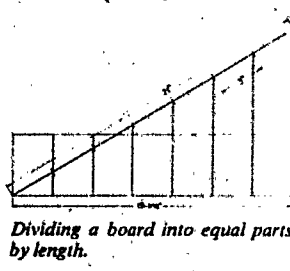

If you'd like to have the plans to make this drawing board, ask us for Idea No. 1826 and send $2 to Creative Ideas in Wood, c/o this newspaper, 750 Center Drive, Vandalia, Ohio 45377.

Woodworkers' Forum

Question: What is the best way to divide a board into equal parts, particularly an odd-sized board?

To divide the width of a board, hold a rule at an angle across the board with one end of the rule on one edge and the inch mark corresponding to the number of parts you want, on the opposite edge. Mark the divisions.

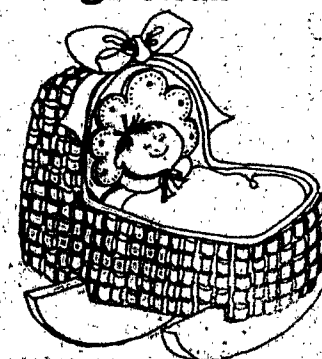

To divide the length of a board, draw a line from one end of the board to the other end. At one end draw another line, edge to edge, perpendicular to the first line. Next, from the opposite end, draw a diagonal line that intersects the perpendicular line at a spot where the diagonal line's length is easily divided by the number of parts you wish to divide the board. Mark the divisions on the diagonal line. Then, align a square to the first line and draw lines from the marks on the diagonal line to the first line. These lines divide the board into equal parts.

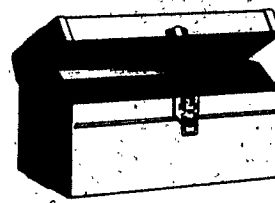

This method was used to determine the spacing of holes in the leg pieces of the drawing board.

We're glad to answer wood-working questions from readers. Write us at our Vandalia address and please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope to help facilitate a quick reply.

Gulfview roof dilemma haunts Hancock board

By BRENT MACEY
Problems preventing approval of roof repairs at Gulfview Elementary school remain unresolved, John Mykolyk, Hancock County School Board architect, told the board at a Friday morning meeting.

Mykolyk said a question remains concerning how the roof is adhearing in spots on the deck.
"I want to check and see if there has been any separations on the roof surface since my last visit, He said.
He added, "It is a good roof but I would like to look at it some more before I accept it."

In addition, a five year warranty on the roof from MIRI, Inc., roofing contractor, and Roofing Systems and Coatings, Inc., materials supplier, is still being withheld by those two firms, Mykolyk said.

Mykolyk said he would return to the school in a week or so to review work done on the roof.

He added, "I had to go back to Hancock North Central a dozen times over a period of one year before issuing approval."

In other business, the board:
—Approved the resignation of Joyce Brown as elementary teacher at Charles B. Murphy, effective Dec. 19;

—Approved employment of Suzanne Cleek as elementary teacher for Charles B. Murphy for the remainder of 1980—81 school year;

—Approved Charles A. Cleek as social studies teacher for Hancock North Central for the remainder of 1980—81 school year;

—Approved a 16th Section lease at $125 per year for 25 years to Albert E. Edwards;

—Approved a 60 acre lease at $1,500 a year for 25 years to Huey Johnston and Joseph Buccola.

Rockachaws continue undefeated

St. Stanislaus High School's undefeated varsity basketball team Thursday night extended its winning streak to ten games.

The Rock-A-Chaws used a consistent scoring game to defeat the Vancleave Bulldogs 70-46 in Bay St. Louis.

The Rocks hit 18 points in each of the first three periods and 18 in the final period.

Vancleave picked up six points in the first period and 12 in the second to trail 36-18 at halftime.

Brian Logan led the Rock-A-Chaw scoring with 18 points.

Rodney Corr and David McDonnell also got 12 each for the winners.

Ezell Buxton and Doc Reddix led Vancleave with 15 each.

employment rate statewide was 5.3 percent.

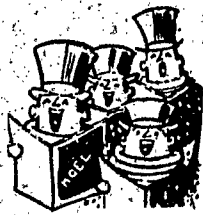

Commission figures show 72,600 unemployed and 949,900 employed in Mississippi out of a civilian labor force of 1,022,500. Initial unemployment insurance claims totaled 14,555 for November.

Counties having the highest unemployment rates were Alcorn, with a rate of 13.6 percent; Noxubee and Jefferson, each with 11.9 percent; and Jeff Davis, with 11.6 percent.

Issaquena, Rankin, Oktibbeha, and Lafayette counties had the lowest jobless rates for November. Issaqueno had a rate of 3.4 percent, Rankin and Oktibbeha each had 4.1 percent, and Lafayette had an unemployment rate of 4.2 percent.

"Some 59 of the state's 82 counties showed an increase in their unemployment rates for November, while 18 reported decreases. The jobless rate in five counties remained the same," Simmons added.

Hancock AARP installs officers at festive holiday event

The annual meeting of Hancock County Chapter No. 1114, American Association of Retired Persons, Inc. at Waveland Civic Center on Coleman Avenue Monday, Dec. 15 featured a Christmas luncheon and installation of new officers.

Outgoing President Esther

Oschmann presided.

Mrs. Oschmann presented a certificate of appreciation and a gift to Mayor John Longo and City Clerk Barbara Rappold, both of Waveland; Mayor Larry Bennett of Bay St. Louis, Ellis Cuevas, editor and publisher of The Sea Coast Echo and Edgar Perez Echo managing editor; Waveland American Legion Post No. 77; Mrs. Theresa James, director of RSVP; and Gulf National Bank; and Ms. Mary Perkins.

Mrs. Oschmann also presented an award to each of the group's officers, board members, nominating committee members and committee chairmen, expressing thanks for cooperation during two years she served as president.

Mrs. Princess Fahey, of Edmond Fahey Funeral Home, donated a $25 door prize won by Henry Hundley of Waveland.

Among guests present were E.J. Perez of the New Orleans Chapter, father of Edgar Perez; Eva Shea, president of Waveland Senior Citizens Club, and Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Hofmeister. Hofmeister is vice president of St. Louis Chapter, AARP.

Those having December birthdays received a gift.

Joseph Servat, chapter past president, served as installing officer.

New officers are Mrs. Theresa Hubert, president; George Surgi, first vice president; Mrs. Lucille Reese, second vice president; Dudley McCall, treasurer; Cyril Reese, assistant treasurer; Mrs. Mitzl Pepperman, secretary.

Board members are Mrs. Oschmann; Mrs. Julia Loup, Mrs. Amansa Sylvester, Mrs. Cora Coe, James Hubert, Frank Geraci, Mrs. Ada

Pollard and Les Galtvan.

Nominating committee members include Charles Maumus, Mrs. Geraldine Lang, Mrs. Dottie Mendow, Mrs. Josie Scavo, Andrew Collins, Mrs. Mary Geraci, Mrs. Mercedes Gleber and Mrs. Gladys Noonan.

Servat presented Mrs. Oschmann with a past president's pin and then turned over the gavel to Mrs. Hubert declaring her the new president.

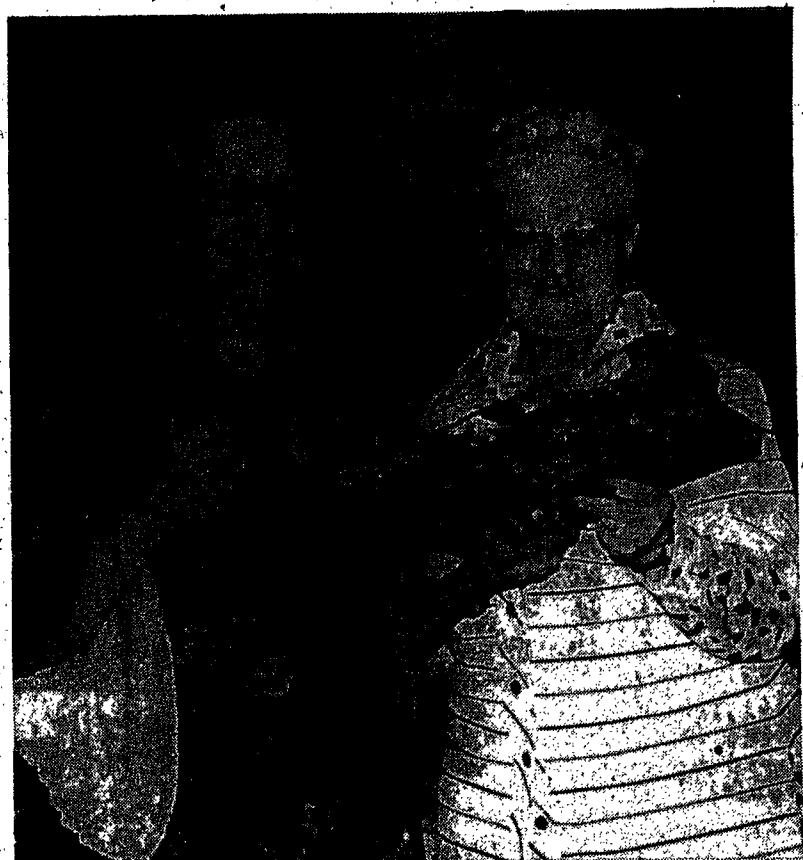

Mrs. Hubert then presented Mrs. Oschmann with a silver tray from officers and members in recognition of leadership in the past two years and a job well done.

Turkey dinner, trimmings, covered dishes and desserts were served and music was furnished by Mrs. Esther Bussey and Rita Marti.

Mr. and Mrs. George Surgi and Mrs. Marie Longo supervised the serving.

Mrs. Loup provided decorations.

"We wish a very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year to everyone in our community from the members of AARP," Mrs. Oschmann said.

YOU AND YOUR PET

CATS ARE PRONE TO URINARY PROBLEMS

Bladder disease is a serious, and increasingly common, disease of the domestic cat. It may range from a simple inflammation of the cat's bladder to a complete blockage of the urinary tract, so that urination is impossible. Simple cases of bladder infections, known as cystitis, are usually caused by bacteria, and can be treated with antibiotics. This type of cystitis can affect male or female, whole or neutered, animals.

Certain cats, especially neutered males, have the tendency to develop serious complications following a bladder infection.

The problem begins when various factors, not all identified, cause minerals in the diet to form sand-like particles or stones in the cat's bladder.

In males, these mineral deposits are often trapped at the urethra, the rather narrow bladder outlet.

Sometimes enough particles will collect to completely block the urethra and stop the passage of urine. The problem isn't seen as often in female cats because they have a wider urethral passage.

Veterinary researchers believe that blockage of the urinary tract is caused by a combination of factors—initial bladder infections, a high ash diet, and an alkaline urine.

First, the high ash diet introduces high mineral levels into the pet's system. Then the cat's abnormally alkaline urine causes the dissolved minerals to form crystals in the bladder, and finally, the crystals add to the bladder irritation already begun by the bacteria, and close the urethra.

The signs of bladder discomfort are fairly typical, and an alert owner should suspect the nature of the problem. At first, the cat will make frequent trips to the litter box or outside in response to bladder pressure.

As the condition progresses, the cat will strain to urinate for several minutes at a time. Little or no urine will pass, and the cat will appear restless and may cry.

At this point, professional assistance is needed. Your veterinarian will anesthetize the cat, drain the bladder, and remove the obstruction.

As experienced cat owners will tell you, pets that have had one episode of urinary blockage are susceptible to others, so you will have to take steps to counteract the problem.

The cat should be encouraged to drink more water so that minerals are flushed from the bladder before stones form. If your cat refuses extra fluids, try adding ¼ teaspoon of salt to its food each day. This should increase water intake noticeably.

You should also modify the pet's diet. Feed only moist canned foods, and avoid those containing whole fish or ground bone.

Once or twice a week, you might substitute raw meat for the regular canned food.

The raw meat will help raise the urine's acid level; so will vitamin C supplements. If you wish to try the vitamin C, ask your veterinarian to determine the proper dosage for your cat's weight.

Occasionally, a cat's toilet habits contribute to its bladder problems. Some cats refuse to use a badly soiled litter box or prefer to relieve themselves outdoors.

These pets will hold urine for long periods, and are more susceptible to bladder stones.

Annunciation the setting for Johnson, Breazeale vows

Annunciation Catholic Church in Kiln was the setting for the November 22 Nuptial Mass uniting Phyllis Ann Breazeale and Ronnie Glenn Johnson. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene B.

Breazeale Sr. of Kiln. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Wilton Monroe Johnson of Picaune.

Rev. Austin Walsh officiated at the early evening ceremony. Nuptial music was presented by vocalist Gina Larson accompanied by organist Barbara Larson.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride chose a formal gown of white chiffon and Alencon lace fashioned with empire waist and Queen Anne neckline. The bodice was adorned with appliques of Alencon lace and embellished with seed pearls. A wide ruffle enhanced the hemline of the softly pleated skirt which swept into a chapel length train. Her bridal picture hat was trimmed in identical lace appliques and seed pearls and held a veil and bow of bridal illusion.

She carried a bouquet of cranberry and white silk roses, mums, stephanotis and baby's breath interspersed with matching ribbon streamers.

Sherrie Parker of Picaune was maid of honor and Sharon B. Minchew of Bay St. Louis attended her sister as matron of honor.

Bridesmaid was Karen Marie Suggart of Picaune, sister of the groom.

Attendants were identically attired in gowns of cranberry jersey knit featuring full pleated skirts and empire bodice accented with matching chiffon capes. They carried single stemmed roses with baby's breath and ribbon streamers.

Miss Vanessa Shiyou was flower girl. She wore a rose colored gown of chiffon with empire waist and wide flounce at the hemline. She carried a nosegay of cranberry and white silk roses and baby's breath.

Neil Beech of Picaune was best man.

Groomsmen were Danny Minchew of Bay St. Louis, brother-in-law of the bride; and Bubbie Breazeale of Kiln, brother of the bride.

Jon Kristian Minchew, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer.

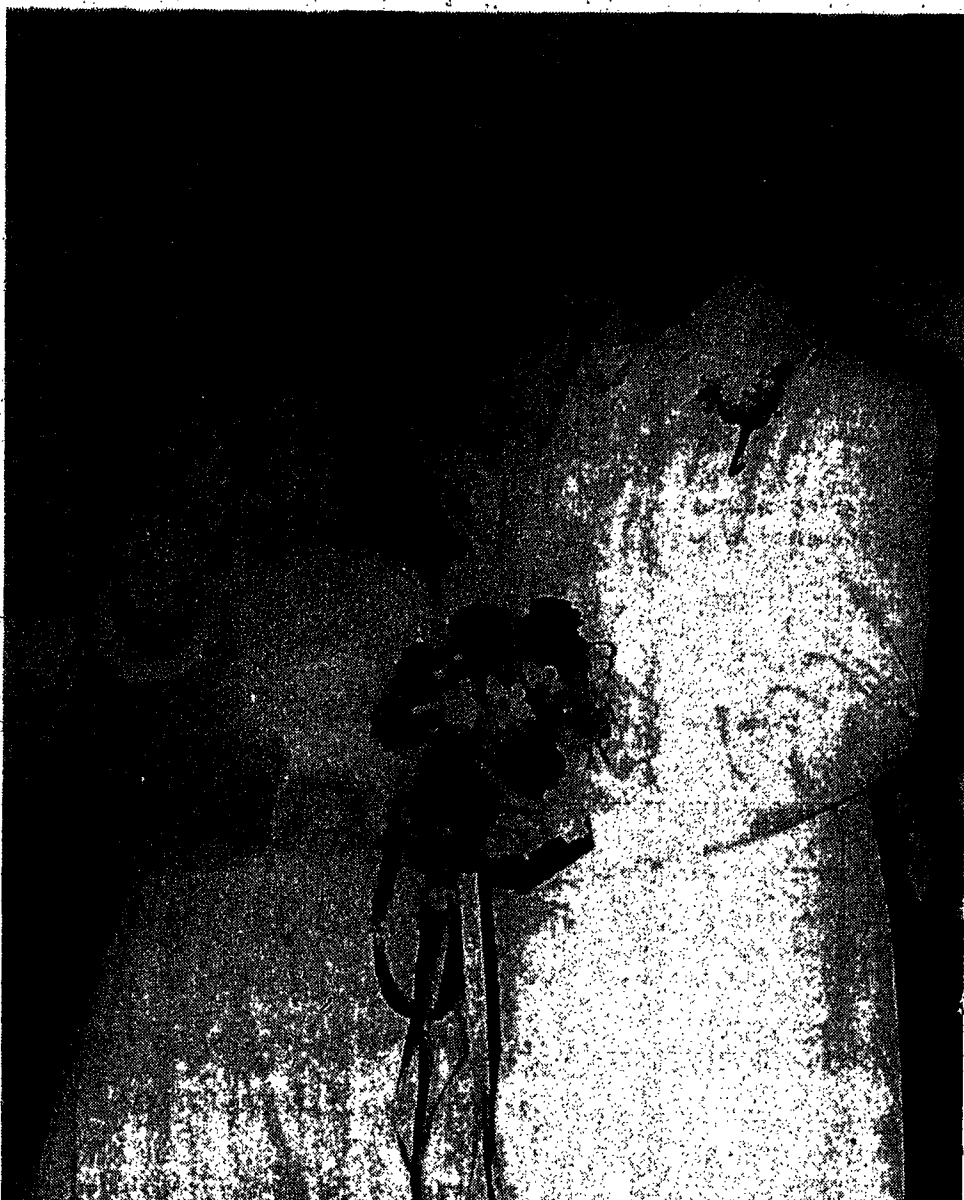

Ushers were Farron Hoda and Colon Whitfield.

The bride's mother chose for the occasion a formal gown of peach knit. The groom's mother was attired in a navy blue knit suit. Each wore a corsage of white silk tea roses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at Jourdan River Shores clubhouse.

Mrs. Georgette Gill of Gulfport served the four tiered wedding cake. Assisting her was Ann Asher of Pearlantino. Presiding at the punch bowl was Mrs. Barbara Logan of Yazoo City, aunt of the bride. Ruth Ladner and Melody Minchew attended the guest register.

The couple will reside in Picaune.

Hille feted with pre-nuptial events

Miss Helene Hille, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hille of Bay St. Louis, was recently honored at several parties marking her forth coming marriage to Mark Robert Ederer of Ocean Springs.

She was honored November 16 at a shower in New Orleans, La. Hostesses were Misses Laura and Elizabeth Ederer, two of her bridesmaids, and Mrs. Ronald Gummie, mother of her flower girl, at the latter's home. Many of the bride's relatives attended.

The home of Mrs. Melvin Ulmer on Felicite Street was the setting for a November 29 shower hosted by bridesmaids Miss Karen Sharp of Hammond, La.; her sisters Misses Carla and Suzanne Hille, and Mrs. Ulmer.

Relatives, friends and neighbors from the Bay St. Louis area attended.

A color scheme of royal blue and charcoal brown was used in the party decor.

The home of Mrs. John McKenna on Highland Drive was the setting for a prenuptial tea honoring Miss Hille December 20.

Mrs. McKenna and her daughter, Mrs. Anthony Ladner of Pascagoula, were hostesses for the event.

An after-rehearsal party will be given at the Ocean Springs home of the groom-elect's parents' Sunday, December 21.

The Peppermill Restaurant in Waveland will be the setting for Miss Hille's doe dinner

Monday, December 22, when her maid of honor, Miss Charlotte Gordon, and her mother, Mrs. Carrol Gordon, will entertain the bridal party as well as the mothers and grandmothers of the wedding party.

BROILERS

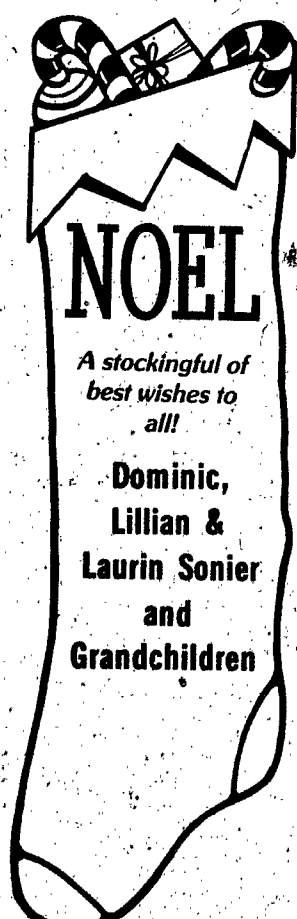

BROILER-TYPE
Hatcheries in the state set 6,451,000 eggs for broiler chicks during the week ending November 29, one percent below the previous week but three percent above the corresponding week a year ago.

Cumulative placements for 1980 are 271,825,00 broiler chicks-two percent above a year earlier.

EGG-TYPE
Hatcheries in the state set 103,000 eggs for egg-type chicks during the week ending November 29, 21 percent below the previous week and 65 percent below the 281,000 set during the comparable week a year ago.

Hatch of egg-type chicks was 130,000, 40 percent below the previous week and 53 percent below the 276,000 hatched during the comparable week a year ago.

In the five states which accounted for about 26 percent of the hatch of all egg-type chicks in the U.S. in 1979, settings during the week ending November 29, were down 13 percent and hatchings were down 51 percent from a year ago.

November county statistics told

Ed Pittman, Mississippi's secretary of state, released the following information recently about local business activity for the month of November.

Pittman said there were 51 documents filed from Hancock County giving notice that a creditor has a security interest in property of the debtor. During this same period, one new business corporation was chartered.

According to Mr. Pittman, four Hancock Countians received their notary public commissions during November.

Two out of state defendants were served through the secretary of state's office with court process for law suits which originated in Hancock County.

The total number of votes cast in Mississippi during the November presidential election was 892,023.

Pittman noted, "This record number of voters represents 60 percent of the total number of registered voters in the state."

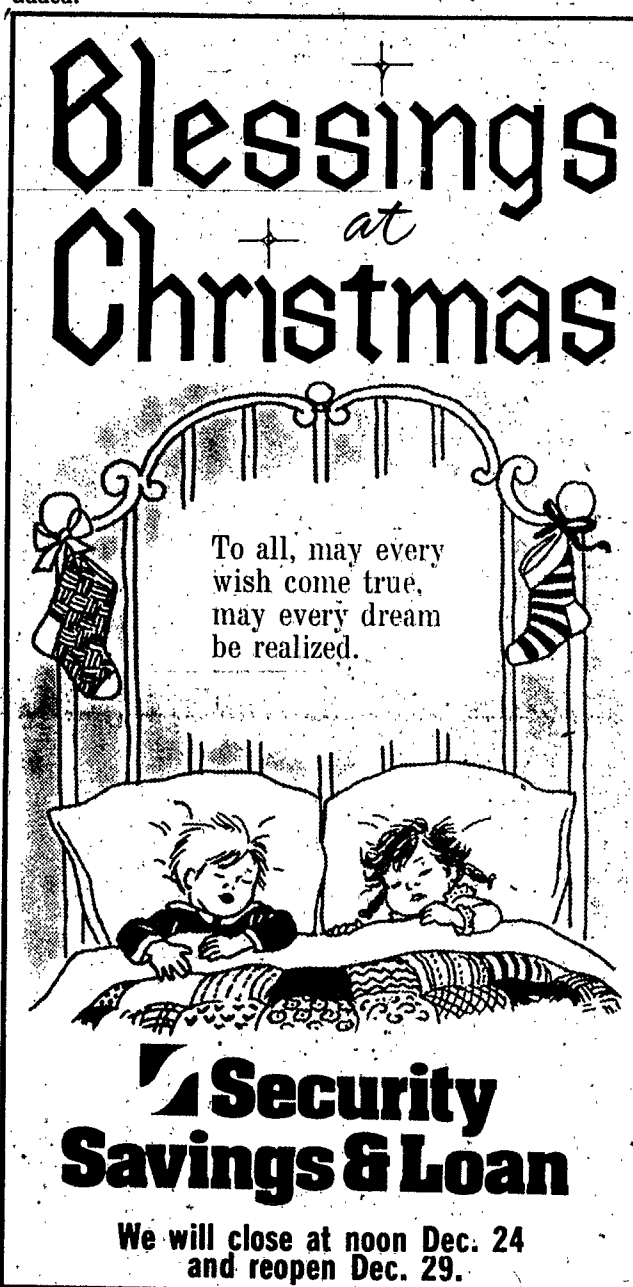

"It was evidence of the great interest Mississippians have in maintaining excellence in government and that the citizens of this state are to be commended for their good citizenship," Pittman added.

BIG AND HOMELESS — This big fellow was abandoned when his owners recently moved away from 107 Carlos Court in Spanish Acres Subdivision, Bay St. Louis. He is healthy, playful, and was professionally groomed and clipped last week. Male and apparently a St. Bernard-Poodle mix, the animal is free to a good home and would make an excellent Christmas present. For information, call 487-5765. (Staff photo by Edgar Perez)

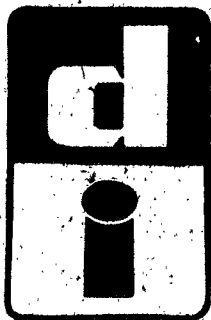

CHILDREN'S CLASSIC
"The Swish of the Curtain" will be presented in four half-hour episodes on "Once Upon a Classic" at 1 p.m., Saturdays on the Mississippi Educational Television Network. An ETV spokesman says

Pamala Brown's children's classic tells the story of seven young friends who are determined to establish and operate their own theater, despite parental and community opposition. In spite of the odds against them, the children continually prove with their sincerity, talent, ability and hard work that they are committed to the project and that they mean to be taken seriously. "Once Upon a Classic" is closed-captioned for the hearing-impaired.

A sleigh full of love and peace and happiness this Christmas Season. We have enjoyed serving you.

POPE PIUS XII AWARDS — Within the first year of organization of St. Augustine Divine Word Seminary Explorer Post No. 780, its members are awarded Catholic Scouting's Pius XII medal for religious activities by high school and young adult scouts. The awards were presented in ceremonies at the seminary in Bay St. Louis Sunday, Dec. 14 by Bishop Joseph Hovze of the Biloxi Diocese. Among the Pius XII recipients are, from left, Nguyen Cao Thuong, Eric Fleming, Lucius Martin, Clyde Greenhouse, and Sterling Gallen. Also honored at the Eucharistic celebration is Mrs. Lois Friloux who received a St. George Award 'presented by the Diocesan Committee on Scouting to adults who have made a significant contribution to the spiritual development of scouts.' Acting as servers are twin sons of Mrs. Friloux, Stephen and Thomas Friloux. (Photo courtesy St. Augustine's Seminary)

ANNIVERSARY FACELIFT — The Pere LeDuc Council No. 1522 Knights of Columbus home on Main Street in Bay St. Louis is undergoing exterior renovation, marking the 70th anniversary of the council's founding on Dec. 18, 1910. Grand Knight Bob Hubbard of Waveland said the council will conduct ribbon cutting ceremonies upon completion of the facelift project. (Photo by Bob Hubbard)

BY DR. L.S.
WALKER

"And the Word was made flesh, and dwelt among us...full of grace and truth" - John 1:14.

This one sentence in the Bible encompasses such a wealth of love and grace that man can never comprehend the full scope of its meaning.

In the preceding verses of the chapter, John set forth the nature of the Word. Repeatedly he referred to what the Word "was." He (the Word) was in the beginning; He was God (Divine); He was the Creator; He was the Light and the Life, etc. John used the term "was" to indicate state of being. The Word eternally was all this as set forth in John's Gospel chapter 1.

The Word who "was" is said to "become." That means He became what He was not. He was God; He became flesh. He was the inhabitant and ruler of heaven; He became an inhabitant and subject of earth. He was dwelling with the Father; He became flesh to dwell with us.

"Who being in the form of God, thought it not robbery to be equal with God: But made himself of no reputation, and took upon him the form of a servant, and was made in the likeness of men" - Phil. 2:5-8.

This all addresses itself to the miracle of the incarnation. But what, one may ask, does incarnation mean? The English term "incarnation" is derived from the Latin word "en carne," which means "in flesh."

Hence, the term "incarnation" is used in the English language to refer to that miracle in which God came to dwell among us in human flesh. The reader would do well to examine this beautiful truth in the light of Hebrews 2:9-18 and 4:14-16.

In the person of Jesus Christ, who was the eternal living word, God came from Heaven to earth that we might go from earth to Heaven. As God's man, and man's God, Jesus, the long promised Messiah, became our Advocate, Mediator, High Priest and Lord.

"O that one might plead for a man with God, as a man pleadeth for his neighbor!" was the ancient cry of Job - Job 16-21. Jesus, the virgin-born son of Mary, is that man. "For there is one God, and one mediator between God and men, the man Christ Jesus" - I Tim. 2:5.

As the "seed" of the woman promised in Genesis 3:15, He (Jesus, God's Son) was the fulfillment of what Isaiah the prophet had spoken: "...Behold, a virgin shall conceive, and bear a son, and his name shall be called Immanuel" - Isa. 7:14. Matthew wrote to say that "Emmanuel" means "God with us" - Matt. 1:18-23. Thus, the incarnation: "And the Word was made flesh, and dwelt among us..."

In verse 21 of Matthew 1, the inspired penman, says, "And she (Mary) shall bring forth a son, and thou shalt call his name JESUS: for he shall save his people from their sins." How beautiful! How wonderful! How glorious indeed! Little wonder that Paul the Apostle boldly stated: "To wit, that God was in Christ, reconciling the world unto himself, not imputing their trespasses unto them; and hath committed unto us the word of reconciliation; - II Cor. 5:19.

We may not know exactly when Christ was born in Bethlehem of Judea. But we do know He was born; He lived; He died as the acceptable sacrifice for sins; He arose triumphant over death; He ascended to the right hand of the Father in our behalf. He is coming again!

Don't get so carried away with gifts, tensil and parties that we forget to celebrate and rejoice that Christ was born. Don't forget that the Baby in the manger is the Christ of Calvary. Keep all the ministry of Jesus tied together and His birth takes on new glory.

A Merry Christmas to all!

Here's a cheery greeting to our many good friends and customers at this Yuletide season.

Q. When I was 12 years old we moved from my hometown to a different state. But even after 4 years of living here I'm still not adjusted. I left very good friends behind, but have made new ones. Still I don't really fit in. People here are different. I've tried being like them and tried being myself. But whatever I'm like I don't think people care whether I'm around or not. I can't go back to my hometown until I'm of age, but by then everything will have changed. I've been let down too many times since I've moved. But what do I do?

A. It has been our experience in traveling all about the country and the world and spending a great deal of time in many places that people are much the same everywhere. You are idealizing your hometown and not giving your present home and friends an opportunity to contribute happiness to your life.

Bear in mind that you have lived in your present location for one quarter of your life and where you live now is your hometown. Just be pleasant and friendly and you will find that you fit in, and thereby you will learn to love your present hometown.

Q. For two happy years I have been married to a man 25 years older than I am. Some people ask me why I married him and say I could have done better. I love my husband very much, so why can't they mind their own business? What shall I do about people that cut him down all the time? Do you think it is wrong for a 23 year old woman to be married to a 48 year old man?

A. Do not become uptight about other people when they ask why you married your husband. Just say, "I love him, and we are happy together."

Of course, it is not wrong for a 23 year old woman to be married to a 48 year old man. True love, not age, is the important thing in marriage.

POPE PIUS XII AWARDS — Within the first year of organization of St. Augustine Divine Word Seminary Explorer Post No. 780, its members are awarded Catholic Scouting's Plus XII medal for religious activities by high school and young adult scouts. The awards were presented in ceremonies at the seminary in Bay St. Louis Sunday, Dec. 14 by Bishop Joseph Hozze of the Biloxi Diocese. Among the Plus XII recipients are, from left, Nguyen Cao Thuong, Eric Fleming, Lucius Martin, Clyde Greenhouse, and Sterling Gallien. Also honored at the Eucharistic celebration is Mrs. Lois Friloux who received a St. George Award 'presented by the Diocesan Committee on Scouting to adults who have made a significant contribution to the spiritual development of scouts.' Acting as servers are twin sons of Mrs. Friloux, Stephen and Thomas Friloux. (Photo courtesy St. Augustine's Seminary)

BY DR. L.S. WALKER

"And the Word was made flesh, and dwelt among us...full of grace and truth" - John 1:14.

This one sentence in the Bible encompasses such a wealth of love and grace that man can never comprehend the full scope of its meaning.

In the preceding verses of the chapter, John set forth the nature of the Word. Repeatedly he referred to what the Word "was." He (the Word) was in the beginning; He was God (Divine); He was the Creator; He was the Light and the Life, etc. John used the term "was" to indicate state of being. The Word eternally was all this as set forth in John's Gospel chapter 1.

The Word who "was" is said to "become." That means He became what He was not. He was God; He became flesh. He was the inhabitant and ruler of heaven; He became an inhabitant and subject of earth. He was dwelling with the Father; He became flesh to dwell with us.

"Who being in the form of God, thought it not robbery to be equal with God: But made himself of no reputation, and took upon him the form of a servant, and was made in the likeness of men" - Phil. 2:5-8.

This all addresses itself to the miracle of the incarnation. But what, one may ask, does incarnation mean? The English term "incarnation" is derived from the Latin word "en carne," which means "in flesh."

Hence, the term "incarnation" is used in the English language to refer to that miracle in which God came to dwell among us in human flesh. The reader would do well to examine this beautiful truth in the light of Hebrews 2:9-18 and 4:14-16.

In the person of Jesus Christ, who was the eternal living word, God came from Heaven to earth that we might go from earth to Heaven. As God's man, and man's God, Jesus, the long promised Messiah, became our Advocate, Mediator, High Priest and Lord.

"O that one might plead for a man with God, as a man pleadeth for his neighbor!" was the ancient cry of Job - Job 16-21. Jesus, the virgin-born son of Mary, is that man. "For there is one God, and one mediator between God and men, the man Christ Jesus" - I Tim. 2:5.

As the "seed" of the woman promised in Genesis 3:15, He (Jesus, God's Son) was the fulfillment of what Isaiah the prophet had spoken: "...Behold, a virgin shall conceive, and bear a son, and his name shall be called Immanuel" - Isa. 7:14. Matthew wrote to say that "Emmanuel" means "God with us" - Matt. 1:18-23. Thus, the incarnation: "And the Word was made flesh, and dwelt among us..."

In verse 21 of Matthew 1, the inspired penman, says, "And she (Mary) shall bring forth a son, and thou shalt call his name JESUS: for he shall save his people from their sins." How beautiful! How wonderful! How glorious indeed! Little wonder that Paul the Apostle boldly stated: "To wit, that God was in Christ, reconciling the world unto himself, not imputing their trespasses unto them; and hath committed unto us the word of reconciliation; - II Cor. 5:19.

We may not know exactly when Christ was born in Bethlehem of Judea. But we do know He was born; He lived; He died as the acceptable sacrifice for sins; He arose triumphant over death; He ascended to the right hand of the father in our behalf. He is coming again!

Don't get so carried away with gifts, tensil and parties that we forget to celebrate and rejoice that Christ was born. Don't forget that the Baby in the manger is the Christ of Calvary. Keep all the ministry of Jesus tied together and His birth takes on new glory.

A Merry Christmas to all!

NOTICE OF FEDERAL JUDICIAL TRAPPING, FISHING AND TRESPASSING ON THE LANDS OF THE IOWA COMPANY

Notice is hereby given that the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Louisiana in Civil Action No. 5515 issued a permanent injunction on February 8, 1986, enjoining and prohibiting the defendant therein and others from hunting, trapping, fishing or otherwise trespassing upon the lands of The Iowa Company located in St. Tammany Parish South of Highway 90, between East Pearl River and West Pearl River, and more particularly described in said injunction judgment.

Persons trespassing upon the above described lands of The Iowa Company will be proceeded against before the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Louisiana or such other tribunal as may be appropriate.

STATE OF MISSISSIPPI
COUNTY OF HARRISON

PUBLIC NOTICE
INVITATION TO BID

To all persons interested in the following described lands in Hancock County, Mississippi, to-wit:

TRACT A: W 1/4 of W 1/4 and E 1/4 of SE 1/4 and SE 1/4 of NE 1/4, all lying and being in Section 14, Township 5 South, Range 15 West, Hancock County, Mississippi, containing 280.67 acres.

TRACT B: The South 9.87 chains of SE 1/4 of SW 1/4 and SW 1/4 of SE 1/4, all lying and being in Section 23, Township 5 South, Range 15 West, Hancock County, Mississippi, containing 39.48 acres.

You are hereby notified that sealed proposals to lease for oil, gas and mineral exploration and development the above-described lands granted in lieu of sixteen sections may be filed with the Superintendent of Education of the Biloxi Municipal Separate School District, in Biloxi, Mississippi, on or before 7:30 p.m., on the 13th day of January, 1981, and you are invited to submit sealed bids specifying the bonus to be paid by the lessee for said lease. The lease or leases shall cover all the mineral interest in these tracts that is subject to the jurisdiction of this Board, being a full mineral interest in all of the above property except for the W 1/4 of W 1/4 of Section 14, in which only a 1/2 mineral interest is being offered for lease. Each tract must be bid upon separately. If the successful bid on each tract is from the same bidder, then one lease shall be executed to that bidder covering both tracts. Payment shall be made for the bonus by cashier's check, made to the order of the Biloxi Municipal Separate School District, within 48 hours after the bid is accepted. The form of said oil, gas and mineral lease as prescribed by said Board of Trustees and the terms so prescribed, including the royalty to be retained by the lessor, the annual rental to be paid by the lessee, and the primary term of the lease, is now on file and available for inspection in the office of the Superintendent of Education of the Biloxi Municipal Separate School District, at Biloxi, Mississippi, where it may be inspected by all interested parties. The sealed bids submitted will be open at 7:30 p.m., or as soon thereafter as conveniently possible, on the 13th day of January, 1981, at a regular monthly meeting of the Board of Trustees for said School District.

The Board reserves the right to reject any and all bids but if any bid is accepted, the Board will award said oil, gas and mineral lease to the highest and best bidder in the manner provided by law.

THIS, the 19th day of December, 1980.

Book Review

The third and final edition of "Along the Gulf" is now on sale in leading book shops throughout South Mississippi.

Written by Charles Lawrence Dyer and published at the turn of the century, this delightful book gives an amusing and interesting account of people and places along the Gulf Coast from starting point in New Orleans, La. to tour's end at Mobile, Ala., and would make a lovely and inexpensive Christmas Gift. Recognized as "a collector's item" and a historian's "must," the book has a romantic and meaningful history.

First printed from a surviving copy of an original, sponsored by Women of Trinity Church in Pass Christian, the work was sold for the purpose of obtaining funds with which to improve and maintain church grounds devastated in 1969 during Hurricane Camille.

First edition of the reprint (1894-95) came off Gulfport's Dixie Press in November, 1971.

The book was a sell-out in a matter of weeks and by popular demand went into a second printing which again sold out rapidly.

Women of Trinity have announced the current third edition is the final printing. The books will not again be printed. Interested persons should avail themselves of a copy while they last.

The book, which gives a complete description of the seaside towns bordering the Gulf of Mexico during horse and buggy days and days of the highly touted L&N railroad excursions, is magnificently illustrated with approximately a hundred copper etchings, depicting places of business, homes and people prominent in Waveland, Bay St. Louis, Pass Christian, Long Beach, Mississippi City, Handsboro, Biloxi, Ocean Springs, Scranton, Pascagoula and Moss Point.

At that time there was no Gulfport!

However, in New Orleans there was the posh Hotel Grunewald, described as having an "elegant bar," a reading room with "easy chairs and the latest newspapers from all over the world," and a penthouse roof.

It was from this pent roof that our story begins. Conversation on the pent roof revolved around the excursion tickets priced at a dollar, offered by the Mobile Division of the L&N Railroad.

Holder of an excursion ticket might board the train in New Orleans and stop off at any of all stations between New Orleans and Mobile and return for the bargain rate of one dollar.

The trip passed by the Old French Market and the United States Mint and was a popular pastime.

Sportsmen were content to go no further than "The Chef" for fishing or hunting, others the entire tour stopping at popular "health resorts" and "watering places" where gambling old hotels and boarding houses offered carriage drives, bathing, croquet or tennis, as well as dancing and regattas.

Dyer's sketches of places and persons are both amusing and accurate.

The book sells for $5 and in Bay St. Louis may be bought from Pittman's Hallmark Store on the Beach front, or from the Browns in their newly renovated Woodman of the World Building on Second Street, or from Joe Pilet, a representative of Women of Trinity in Bay St. Louis.

In Pass Christian the book is for sale in Trinity Parish House as well as The Harbor Shop.

Ms. Mississippi applications being accepted

Applications are being accepted for the annual Miss Mississippi USA Pageant to be staged in Jackson, Ms.

The February 27-29 event will be presented in the Grand Ballroom at the Downtown. Miss Mississippi USA will represent the state in the national competition, where she will be seen by millions of viewers during the live telecast on CBS this spring.

There is no "talent" requirement, all judging is on the basis of poise, personality, and beauty of face and figure. Applicants must be between 18 and 28, never married and at least six month residents of Mississippi, thus college dorm students are eligible.

All girls interested in competing for the title must write to Miss Mississippi USA Pageant, P.O. Box 315, Jackson, Ms 39205 by January 15, 1981. Letters must include a recent photo, a brief biography, and an address and phone number.

The winner will be awarded prizes including a wardrobe, jewelry, a scholarship, a two week all expense paid trip to the national Miss USA Pageant, and a one year personal appearance contract.

Cheri Brown, the current Miss Mississippi USA of Meridian, will be present for the event and will crown her successor.
